NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1888

AN EFFORT TO SHOULDER THE BLAME ON DEAD SHARP AND FOSHAY,

Ex-Senator Wagstaff Cross-Examined With This Object in View-Mr. Maurice B. White Testifics About the Bond Issue-All the Sensational Elements Eliminated Phrough Bourke Cockran's Objections.

Plat, stale and unprofitable have been the roceedings in the trial of Thomas Kerr, during the former days of the trial, for by dilligence and persistence in his opposition to the admission of all testimony, new and promising to shed light on the operations of the men in the lead in the Broadway surface and Broadway and Broadway and Seventh Avenue railway schemes of 1884, Bourke Cockran had suc ceeded in eliminating all the sensational element in the trial.

This morning Maurice M. White, who was director in the Broadway and Seventh Avenue Company, was the first witness. He testified that he paid to Kerr $5,000 in a check for second mortgage bonds of the Broadway surface road, and at Kerr's request got the check cashed.

Ex-Senator Alfred Wagstaff testified that he attended the meeting of the Broadway directors which authorized the issuance of the half million dollars' worth of second mortgage bonds and the payment of a bonus of $150,000 in the guaranteed first mortgage bonds to those who would buy them. He supposed their object was to raise money to build a depot and buy paraphernala, as was the stated object.

Mr. Cockran's cross-examination was directed to showing that the queer arrangement with the Broadway and Seventh Avenue road by which the latter guaranteed the $1,500,000 first mortgage bonds of the Broadway Surface road was only an ordinary business affair.

$1,500,000 first mortgage bonds of the Broadway Sarface road was only an ordinary business affair.

Mr. Wagstaff said the Broadway road, which ran from Fifteenth street to the Bowling Green, was to have the right to run five cars on the Seventh avenue tracks in Broadway and Seventh Avenue road its cars on Broadway, below Fifteenth street. The latter road was to provide a stable, and guaranteed bonds in consideration.

The Twenty-third and Bleecker street roads were to use the Broadway tracks to Ann street. It was felt that a road in Broadway in competition with the Broadway and Seventh avenue road running through University place and Wooster street would ruin the latter read. The Fourth, Third and Sixth avenue roads, by arranging with the Broadway road to use its tracks, could work the ruin, and they were said to be ready to take the offer made to the Seventh avenue road.

Mr. Cockran succeeded in showing, to his own satisfaction at least, that everything done by the two roads was done by the two dead men, sharp and Foshay. Senator Wagstaff was made the vehicle by Mr. Cockran for a complete expose of the connection of the Broadway Surface road and the Broadway and Seventh avenue road, and the climax was capped by these two questions and answers:

O. Who, in all these transactions, acted for the

Q. Who, in all these transactions, acted for the Broadway and Seventh Avenue road? A. Jam W. Foshay.
Q. Whe appeared for the Broadway surfaced? A. Jacob Sharp.

Col. Fellows declared this to be no cros examination, but Justice Patterson said lence, at le ast, and Col. Fellows me a redirect examination.

The General Master Workman to Assume His · Prerogative as Chief.

The latest report in connection with the trouble in District Assembly No. 49 is that General Master Workman Powderly has been appealed to by prominent Knights of that body, and will preside at next Sunday's session to prevent further difficulty. He will also, it is said, demand of Master Workman Quinn the surrender of the charter.

Just what effect this will have on the final result remains to be seen. It will certainly give all hands time to consider the matter calmly and enable the law of the order to take its course.

A leading knight of No. 49 declared to-day that Master Workman Quinn will never sit again in authority, and others indorsed the declaration.

It was reported among the Knights that. George W. Dunne and David J. Naughton had visited Scranton and that after they had laid all the facts of the recent trouble before the General Master Workman, he resolved to put a stop to further dissensions and disruptions by assuming his prerogative as the chief Knight to open and close No. 40°s conclave next Sunday in the regular way. The talk over this move was not great, because few knew it. Those who did looked apon it as a masterly movement, and conupon it as a masterly movement, and con-sidered it a great point in favor of Quinn's

At the meeting of the Tobacco Trades Section last night that body refused to receive a committee of the Missellancous Section, which called for the purpose of getting aid for the concert of the Jewis Chorus Union at the Windsor Theatro. It was said that certain members of the union made cigars at less than union rates, and the union eigar-makers should not, therefore, be asked to assist them.

One of the United Labor leaders, who has been on very intimate terms with Mr. George, said that the little philosopher had practically switched off from an element which was really in accord with his off-repeated views on land and labor and free trade; for he claimed the adoption of the land tax doctrine would necessarily involve free trade. However, he gave Mr. George credit for honesty of purpose and opinion, and thought he had considered it best, in view of the dissensions and bickerings in the Labor party, to adopt that which was nearest to his views—Cleveland and tariff reform—as the most practicable way to ultimately reach the fulfilment of his ideas. The Detroit games were the only ones that were played under favorable auspices during the tour. There was a deluge of rain at Indianapolis, rain and snow at Chicago and rain at Pittsburg. Keefe and O'Rourke were disabled in Chicago, and Ward, in addition to a severe injury to his knee, was obliged to leave the team at Pittsburg on account of illness in his family.

Tiernan was also called home on account of his brother's illness, and thus shorn of fully one-third of its strength, the New York team fought its way through the remainder of the tour.

Considering these disadvantages, the team was fairly successful. Six games were won, six lost, two were tied and two postponed by rain. It is fair to assume that the Giants will win two of these four postponed game, thus making a record of eight won and eight lost on their first tour.

Dr. Edward Sherer, who was appointed chemist in charge of the Appraiser's office, in May, 1880, and who was removed April 1, 1888, was the first witness.

After telling the committee what course of study he had pursued, Dr. Sherer said his principal duties of late had been the testing of sugars by the polariscope for duty.

He first heard of the intention to remove him early in the year in consequence of charges of inaccuracy that had been made against him in testing sugar. He went to Appraiser McMullen, who told him that his case was a very bad one, that he had done all he could for him, but it was to no purpose. The Secretary of the Treasury said he must go. Notes from Baseball Amateure. Reader. - Mays pitched a winning game April 21.

The Secretary of the Treasury said he must go.

One of the principal causes of his dismissal, he thinks, was the charge that was made against him by the Burns Committee, which investigated the alleged sugar ring. He refused to testify, and it was made to appear that he was implicated in the ring in this city by making the sug-r tests too low, and thus discriminating against Boston.

He thought that his name was on the "black list" of the Custom House, and there was no way of escaping dismissal. One man named Jacobs, in the Appraiser's office, was taken off the black list because he was a relative of a Democratic ex-State Senator. Appraiser McMullen, the witness said, was the person who informed Secretary Maynard of Jacobs's political connection. It was common talk in the office at the time.

Dr. Sherer told Senator Bjackburn that he was a Republican and that he had been turned out of office by lying reports of special agents. He considered that he was unjustly treated and wanted a reinstatement. The witness said he first heard of the "black list" of fifteen who were down for decapitation in the Appraiser's office indirectly from his brother. John H. Sherer, who was also removed at the same time as himself.

He admitted that all four of the dismissed B. Wins.

GREAT TIMES FOR THE HUB.

ARRIVAL OF THE LONDON GUESTS OF BOSTON'S CRACK COMPANY.

Fwenty Ancient and Honourable Artillerists of London, Who Will Help Celebrate the 250th Anniversary of Their Bean-Eating Consins - Extensive Arrangements fo Their Entertainment. The steamship Trave was sighted at 11. 20 o'clock this forencon. On board are the members of the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of London, who are to help the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Mass., to celebrate the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its organization.

As soon as the news was received the revenue cutter Washington steamed down the bay to meet her. On board was a reception committee from Boston composed of Col. Henry Walker, Major James P. Frost, Major Chas. G. Stevens, Capt. Albert A. Folsom and Lieut. Sidney M. Hedges.

June 4 will be a great day for Boston, for then the anniversary will be celebrated as only the Hub can celebrate when something very ancient and very honorable is involved.

The Boston company was organized on June 4, 1638. It is the offspring and the only one of the Honourable Artillery Company of London which was brought into existence in the year 1537.

Last year the London company celebrated its 350th anniversary. At that time, in response to a most cordial invitation, Col. Henry Walker, the present commander of the Boston company, together with Lieut. Fottler and several past commanders and privates, went to England and participated in the anniversary rejoicing of the parent company.

Before the event and since there have been

Before the event and since there have been many courtesies exchanged between the two companies, and as one of a series of future climaxes, the Boston company this year invited the Englishmen to be present at and participate in the "grand times" which are to enliven ancient Boston during the days surrounding June 4, and on that day in particular. The Englishmen accepted, and a score of delegates sailed on the Trave.

OFFENSES CHARGED AGAINST THE "BIG FOUR" COMBINE.

The Old Commissioners of Works Acen of Paying for Work Not Done-Will Others in the Ring Also be Indicted ?-Another Blow for the Liquor-Bealers

The indictment of the "Big Four" co bine of the last Board of Works, as and nounced exclusively in THE EVENING WORLD's extra yesterday, is the chief theme Reynolds and William F. Kerr, Democrats, and John Watt and Pearl C. Hilliard, Republicans, will probably be brought to trial at the September term of court before a jury chosen from the citizens selected by the Jury Commission lately appointed by the Legislature. It is understood that the charges will be malfeasance in office and conspiracy to des fraud the city.

The specific character of the twelve or teen counts of the indictment will not be known until Thursday afternoon, when the presentment to the Court will be made. Among the irregularities which will be reviewed will be the passage of two pay-rolls for work in the sewers in December and January amounting to $539 and $429 respectively. It is believed that many of the thirty-eight names on the list are fictitious, and that the work was not done at all.

Another count may have been found on the voting of $12,784 to William R. Cook for removing ashes and garbage, work done, it is alleged, without the contract required by law. The evidence to support the counts has been gathered by policemen, and the whole matter engineered by Dr. Leonard J. Gordon, the Chairman of the Grand Jury.

It is rumored that there are others in the Board of Works ring, not members, whose names will be found on the list of the Grand Jury. teen counts of the indictment will not be Commander Walker will preside, and Adjutant Keeler is to act as toast-master. As souvenirs 850 bronze medals have been made. After dinner all will proceed to the Common, where, in the presence of probably 20,000 spectators, the time-honored custom of commissioning the new officers will be observed, the drum-head election being first carried out.

Tuesday, the 5th of June, the city of Boston will entertain the company and its guests; Wednesday Lowell claims them; Thursday, Boston again; Friday, to Providence, and a clam bake, and Saturday, the grand farewell banquet at Hotel Victoria.

The English visitors, in addition to the entertainments mentioned, will be given receptions by Gov. Ames, the Central Club, Masonic Temple and a dinner by the New England Club, besides private pow-wows innumerable. On Sunday the Englishmen will leave Boston for New York, remaining here several days, still, however, the guests of the Boston Company They will sail for home on June 13. All expenses of this series of celebrations will be borne by the Boston Company, which has subscribed $25,000 for the purpose.

The General Committee includes, besides the Recoption Committee, the following.

Jacob Tottler, Col. Thomas E. Major. President Edelstein's Defeat. The meeting of the Board of Finance last even was one of the most notable on record. The defeat of President Edelstein's resolution, declaring vacant of President Edelstein's resolution, declaring vacant the office of Comptroller Samuel D. Dickinson, by the Democratic votes of Commissioners Hardenbergh and Warren cast in with the Republicans, is almost as hard a blow at the Liquor Dealers' Association as the passage of the High License law at Trenton by Col. Dickinson and his Republican colleagues. The solitary condition of Freedom Edelstein's own vote in favor of his resolution is considered one of the worst of his political defeats.
